Academic Integrity

Cheating and attempted cheating, plagiarism, lying, and stealing of academic work and related materials constitute Academic Integrity violations.

Student members of the American University of Malta community pledge not to cheat, plagiarize, steal, or lie in matters related to academic work. According to these standards, students and faculty must report all alleged violations to the Office of the Provost. At the beginning of each semester, faculty members have the responsibility of explaining to their students the policy regarding the Academic Integrity, and what is considered an integrity violation in their courses with special attention to plagiarism. They must explain the extent to which aid, if any, is permitted in academic work. It is the sole responsibility of the students to request an explanation of any aspect of a faculty member's policies regarding the Academic Integrity that they do not fully understand. They have an obligation not only to follow the Academic Integrity policy, but also to encourage respect among their fellow students for AUM rules and regulations.

Faculty members are also responsible for maintaining the integrity of the learning and evaluation process. Faculty members may actively proctor exams, prohibit the use of mobile phones in class or take any other actions they believe are warranted.

For all academic assignments, project work, and presentations, students need to ensure that due acknowledgement is given to the source of any information that they incorporate in their work. Students must ask their professors if they are unsure whether something constitutes violation of academic integrity in any form. The following are some examples of academic integrity violations:

- Cheating or using unfair means in examinations as determined by the professor.
- Using materials such as textbooks, notes, or formula lists during a test without the instructor's permission.
- Collaborating on an in-class or take-home test without the instructor's permission.

Violations of Academic Integrity: Plagiarism

This is a serious academic offense that constitutes the use of someone else's ideas, words, projects, artwork, phrasing, sentence structure, or other work without properly acknowledging its source. Plagiarism is dishonest because it misrepresents the work of someone else as one's own. It is intellectual theft as it robs others of credit for their work. For a student found plagiarizing; the punishment can range from receiving a failing grade on that assignment without the right to redo the assignment up to dismissal from the university.

Plagiarism is defined as misrepresenting someone else's ideas/work as one's own by not acknowledging the original ownership and source.

Plagiarism includes but is not limited to:

1. Using parts or all of an idea, word, sentence, diagram, artwork without proper citation even if minor or major changes have been applied to the original (including paraphrasing).
2. Copying from another student's test or coursework.
3. Allowing another student to copy from your test or coursework.
4. Significant paraphrasing in written academic work.
5. Citing sources which the student has not read or referred to.
6. Copying from another student's paper during an exam or allowing or encouraging another student to copy from your paper during an exam.
7. Having someone else take your exam in your place or taking an exam for someone else.

Coursework/ assignments/ case studies/ essays / research projects/ exams or other similar assessment materials are liable to be submitted through an online plagiarism detection program (Turnitin).

Members of the Student Affairs Department and Student Academic Conduct Committee are authorized to remove the student from the exam hall and investigate for any suspected evidence of cheating.

Reporting Violations of Academic Integrity

In cases of suspected plagiarism:
